

Political Engagement

January - December 2018

verizon[✓]

A Message from Craig Silliman

Verizon is affected by a wide variety of government policies -- from telecommunications regulation to taxation to health care and more -- that have an enormous impact on our business. We owe it to our shareowners, employees and customers to advocate public policies that will enable us to create new services for our customers and compete fairly in the marketplace.

Political contributions are one way we support the democratic electoral process and participate in the policy dialogue.

Our employees have established political action committees at the federal level and in 18 states. These political action committees (PACs) allow employees to pool their resources to support candidates for office who generally support the public policies our employees advocate. Verizon also participates in trade associations that advocate on behalf of their members. This report lists all PAC contributions, corporate political contributions, support for ballot initiatives and independent expenditures made by Verizon and its affiliates during 2018. It also lists our Public Policy organization's significant memberships in trade associations and issue advocacy organizations and provides a link to our federal lobbying reports.

Our political activity is overseen by the Corporate Governance and Policy Committee of our Board of Directors, which receives a comprehensive report and briefing on these activities at least annually.

We update this voluntary disclosure twice a year and publish it on our corporate website. We believe this transparency with respect to our political spending is in keeping with our commitment to good corporate governance and a further sign of our responsiveness to the interests of our shareowners.

Political Activity: Our Voice in the Democratic Process

What are the Verizon Political Action Committees?

The Verizon Political Action Committees (PACs) exist to help the employees of Verizon participate in America's electoral process and support the public policies important to our future as a company. Through the PACs, employees voluntarily join together to contribute to political campaigns and participate in the electoral process.

What is the mission of the Verizon Political Action Committees?

The Verizon Political Action Committees' mission is to advance and protect the future of Verizon and its employees. The Verizon PACs' interest is not in partisan politics. Instead, through the PACs, we are able to stand together to help government officials and elected leaders understand our business, our issues and our concerns.

How are Verizon Political Action Committee contributions made?

In order to confirm consistency with company policy, candidates and committees who are recommended to receive support are approved by the state and federal PAC disbursement committees. These committees are comprised of Verizon employees who understand our business and policies and are familiar with the political process and the candidates for state and federal office. A listing of the Officers and the Disbursement Committee of the Verizon Federal PAC follows this discussion.

Are the Verizon Political Action Committees required to adhere to any government reporting requirements?

The Verizon PACs are political committees organized under federal and applicable state election laws. As such, the PACs are subject to numerous requirements established by the statutes and the government agencies administering the federal and individual state election laws. These rules and regulations govern many aspects of the contributions process including the setting of monetary contribution limitations and the establishment of periodic reporting requirements. Verizon strictly follows all state and federal reporting and other political action committee requirements and restrictions.

Does Verizon also make corporate political contributions?

Yes, corporate political contributions are made to organizations and to candidates for state offices where permitted by law. Each corporate political contribution is approved by senior management and the Legal Department to ensure compliance with company policy and applicable law.

How are candidates selected?

Proper recipients of company political contributions and PAC contributions include candidates for political office or organizations that support candidates for political office and ballot initiatives. Candidates and other organizations being considered for contributions from the PACs and the company are evaluated on a number of criteria, including their votes and positions on issues of importance to Verizon, which may include issues affecting the business community in general or the communications industry specifically, such as communications policy and other policies relating to employment and economic growth. All contributions are made to promote the interests of the company and its employees and customers and are made without regard to the private political interests of management.

Does Verizon belong to trade associations?

Verizon participates in a number of trade associations, which provide valuable industry and market expertise, and also help advocate positions on behalf of their members. At times, Verizon's views on issues may differ from those a trade association advances, since not all members of an association come to agreement on every issue. Verizon takes these differences into consideration when determining, on balance, whether a membership in a trade association is in the best interests of Verizon and its shareholders. In order to provide shareholders and the public with a better understanding of Verizon's political engagement, we are including in this report a listing of our Public Policy organization's significant memberships in trade associations and issue advocacy organizations (501(c)(6) and 501(c)(4) entities). To the extent a trade association engages in reportable federal lobbying activity, its lobbying reports (along with the reports of other lobbying entities, including Verizon) are available online at <https://lobbyingdisclosure.house.gov/>.

Who oversees Verizon's political activities?

Verizon's political activities are subject to extensive internal oversight. All corporate political contributions are made from an approved budget and go through a centralized process which requires approval by the Legal Department and a Senior Vice President. In addition, advance legal approval must be obtained for use by any political campaigns of corporate facilities, discounts, or other items of value that could constitute in-kind contributions.

In addition, the Corporate Governance and Policy Committee of the Board of Directors provides oversight of Verizon's political activity.
