

EQUINIX AND VERIZON

Moving the world forward. Together.

Equinix and Verizon join forces to guide enterprises in their environmental, social and governance solutions

The impact today's actions can have on tomorrow is front of mind in all we do. Companies are becoming increasingly conscious of their environmental, social and governance (ESG) obligations and commitments, compelled by investors, clients and the public sector to do more. As a result, enterprises that have adopted sustainable solutions are already outperforming their competitors, revolutionizing sustainability as a fundamental discipline.

By choosing technology partners that have adopted ESG strategies and green solutions, today's business leaders can meet their stakeholders' expectations and move their businesses forward into a sustainable future. Equinix and Verizon have joined forces to harness the power of technology to innovate and create a more accessible, equitable and sustainable future. We are working together to guide business leaders to succeed in their ESG goals. We pride ourselves on being responsible corporate citizens driving purpose and integrity across our business and doing what's right to lead the way and protect our planet.

Future first
