IF YOU PLAN TO USE GIFSICLE ONLY TO CREATE OR MODIFY GIF IMAGES, DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE REST OF THIS SECTION.

Anyone can use Gifsicle however they wish; the license applies only to those who plan to copy, distribute, or alter its code. If you use Gifsicle for an organizational or commercial Web site, I would appreciate a link to the Gifsicle home page on any 'About This Server' page, but it's not required.

This code is distributed under the GNU General Public License, Version 2 (and only Version 2). The GNU General Public License is available via the Web at http://www.gnu.org/licenses/gpl.html or in the 'COPYING' file in this directory.

The following alternative license may be used at your discretion.

Permission is granted to copy, distribute, or alter Gifsicle, whole or in part, as long as source code copyright notices are kept intact, with the following restriction: Developers or distributors who plan to use Gifsicle code, whole or in part, in a product whose source code will not be made available to the end user -- more precisely, in a context which would violate the GPL -- MUST contact the author and obtain permission before doing so.

This is a stylesheet for use with OpenStreetMap data to highlight ways that have not been modified since they were initially imported from TIGER data. It is a recreation of a project that was originally created by Matt Amos.

There are a couple of caveats. You need to run osm2pgsql with the -x flag and the extended attributes uncommented in the .style file.
Roads that have had their nodes moved, but the way remains unchanged, will still show up as unedited.
